This Annual Report is dedicated to Rev. A. L Smit, founder of DeafNET Centre of Knowledge.
Foreword from Chairperson

Rev. Attie Smit

It is a great honour and pleasure to write this foreword to the first annual report of the DeafNET Centre of Knowledge as independent, international and African non-profit organisation.

DeafNET Centre of Knowledge (DeafNET) was established as a division of the National Institute for the Deaf (NID) on the 1st of July 2006 by De Stichting Vrienden van Effatha (SVE), the Netherlands, and the National Institute for the Deaf.

The understanding between SVE and NID was to build DeafNET into an independent, international organisation serving the interests of Deaf persons and their families on the continent of Africa. This was achieved on the 1st of March 2012 after DeafNET’s registration as a charitable trust on the 1st of December 2011. Registration as public benefit organisation and non-profit organisation followed soon afterwards. Thanks to the combined support and guidance of NID and SVE the transition to autonomy was successful and positioned DeafNET well for its responsibility towards Deaf persons and their families in Africa. With the benefit of hindsight, the early beginnings of DeafNET can be traced back to October 2000 at the 2nd Mental Health and Deafness Congress in Copenhagen, where information and ideas were exchanged with a delegate of SVE at the congress.

An invitation to participate at a conference in January 2001 in the Netherlands followed. A strong partnership was built in subsequent years, leading to various train-the-trainer projects at NID. In 2004, the Africa Workshop on Mental Health and Deafness at NID was sponsored by SVE, enabling Deaf leaders and service providers from across Africa to participate. When the 3rd Mental Health and Deafness World Congress was held at NID, SVE again sponsored the participation of African delegates.

These joint efforts had a huge impact on Deaf communities in the countries of the delegates. Deaf people started networking across national borders and cultural boundaries, exchanging ideas, knowledge and skills. The power of knowledge, capacity building and networking showed clearly in the positive changes that took place in the position of Deaf people in Africa. The idea of a centre of knowledge was born. In the meantime, the Workshop (2004) and the Congress (2005) had created the platform for the Africa Contact Group for Mental Health and Deafness (ACGMHD) network to come into existence. The next step was DeafNET!

The report will show how DeafNET has touched, in various ways, the lives of deaf persons and their families in more than 30 countries on the African continent.

DeafNET expresses the highest admiration, appreciation and gratitude towards the Deaf persons and hearing family and friends in our network who show courage and perseverance in advocating equal access, education and opportunities for Deaf persons to exercise their citizenship in full participation of the processes of society. A core task and responsibility of DeafNET is to support, extend and strengthen this network in order to reach out to communities and individuals in a way that will build self-esteem, personal autonomy, well being and quality of life.

DeafNET invites you, the reader, to join DeafNET’s network in support of the Deaf people in Africa.

Foreword from Head of DeafNET

Mrs. Suzette Willemse

I take enormous pride in the achievements of DeafNET over the past year. It is all new beginnings for us as we also still celebrating our independence as an organisation.

I have started my work at this dynamic organization and realize the phenomenal group of people I am surrounded and connected with.

DeafNET proves to be a powerful tool for change in the lives of the Deaf and their families on the continent of Africa. In particular, I want to acknowledge the leadership and commitment of our sponsor, Stichting Vrienden van Effatha (Netherlands) and the National Institute for the Deaf (NID) for their extensive inputs which lead to the development and establishment of DeafNET Centre of Knowledge.

This 1st annual report of DeafNET is dedicated to the founder of DeafNET, Rev. AL. Smit for his enormous contribution to the growth of this organisation and mostly for the value he added to the lives of the Deaf in Africa.

I am confident that we can create a society that values their Deaf citizens and encourages their full participation. That we vision an African society based on human rights, empowerment and participation of all; a society that values and celebrates diversity; a society that recognizes and implement the principles of the UNCRPD (United Nations Convention on the Rights of People with Disability). This report highlights that through the exchange and dissemination of knowledge we can develop, empower and give equal opportunities to the Deaf and their families as citizens of the world. Kofi Annan said: “Knowledge is power. Information is liberating. Education is the premise of progress in every society, in every family.”

I acknowledge and applaud the hard work of the vibrant and dedicated team of DeafNET together with our volunteer network (ACGMHD) and partners on the continent. Let us continue in our strive to bring positive change in the lives of people in Africa who experiencing hearing loss and related communication barriers.
